I support a raise in the minimum wage. What I would love to see is, those whom are opposed to an increase try and survive on $9.00 for several months, and see just how far it will carry you. Considering that it would take the average Mc D's worker 150 [thousand] yrs. to earn what their CEO made last yr. It's delirious to fathom this. Why I picked Mc D's because a good friend of mine, who is no longer here, father was one of the 3 guys who started the CO. and I know that he is prolly turning cartwheels where he lay. The money doesn't meet the challenges of today's high inflation.
